Dearest mother & daddy:

Well, just another day just gone by, with nothing to do but sleep and play bridge. I took 3 shots yesterday, and my arm was really sore. I had a fever from them last night, and felt like I was going to die. I lived and you might to see me now. I feel alright now.

Might go to a show tonight, if I can get off. I didn't get the box yet, but probably will soon. Write soon!

Love,
Harold

Dear Daddy:

I didn't get the "good-news" yet. Maybe you ought to call them.

You shouldn't be discouraged in the store. You are doing more than your share in the war effort, so buck up, and look to the better things of life when we will all be home together again to eat and sit in the living room shooting the bull! Right?

Love,
Harold
